A lot can happen in 7 minutes...Storyteller Aaron Calafato uses 7 minute vignettes to share his memories, explore his psyche and attempt to make sense of the world. Episodes range from a summertime he spent at a makeshift daycare to the night his grandfather slipped into a coma and came to Aaron in a profound dream.

Calfato’s storytelling style has been compared to that of monologist Spalding Gray and radio legend Jean Shepard. His background and experience in radio, theatre, and television all play a role in the making of this show. He has been featured on NPR, The Huffington Post, The Nation, Cleveland Scene Magazine, WEWS ABC Channel 5, The Cleveland Plain Dealer, The Akron Beacon Journal, and more!
